STEP BY STEP

STEP 1

First analyze the hair evaluating its resistance and texture. For natural or resistant hair apply Thermal Shampoo Step 1 for 3 times. In the last application, massage the strands and pause for 5 minutes to open the cuticles. For damaged or porous hair, wash once with Thermal Shampoo Step 1 and repeat the application if necessary.

STEP 2

In the salon chair, remove 80% to 100% of the hair's humidity with the help of a blow dryer, divide hair into 4 sections and start applying Thermal Complex Step 2. Use a fine-toothed comb and start from the nape, ½ centimeter distance from the root, spreading it along the length of the hair, in case the product is in excess, remove by using a fine-toothed comb. After application, align the strands with a fine-toothed comb or brush and blow dry, then start the straightening process leaving the strands straight and smooth.

STEP 3

After aligning for fixation and the durability of the process, divide hair into small locks, straighten with a flat iron 10 to 15 times each lock according to the difficulty level to align the hair. The number of times and the temperature of the flat iron will influence the result of the smoothing service. Recommended temperature for healthy or virgin hair is 450° F, (230°C) For sensitized or damaged hair due to the use of excessive chemicals, use the flat iron at a lower temperature of 400° F, (200°C).

STEP 4

At the shampoo sink, apply a generous amount of Thermal Equil Step 3 on the damp strands, which is responsible for balancing the hair pH and sealing the cuticles. Comb, aligning the strands and let it rest for 5 minutes and then rinse thoroughly. If you prefer, apply leave-in and finish as desired.
